

Please do not take away the right of consumers to be on a no call list. Since our household has been on it, our phone only rings when someone we know is calling! It has been so peaceful! We used to get calls during dinner, on Saturday night and even Sunday mornings. Now when our phone rings, it rings for US!

Once a month or so, we get a call from a solicitor and we politely tell them that we are on the no call list, and both parties hang up.

I understand that telemarketers need to earn a living also, but honestly, how many people buy windows, siding or insurance unsolicited OVER THE PHONE??? The people that fall prey to telemarketers are the lonely elderly or disabled people that enjoy having someone to talk to them and buy something as they feel guilty that the nice young man/lady needs to eat too...

Please do NOT take away our right to continue the peace & quiet!

Thank you for reading this.
